

Parenting Matters Foundation Invites You to Step Up To The Plate
for Kids
on Saturday, October 9, from 4-7 p.m.
at the Sequim Boys & Girls Club.

Join us for a wonderful evening of delicious appetizers and desserts made by Bountiful Baskets and First Teacher Moms with Nash's Farm produce and beverages. Our guest speaker will be Vaughnetta Barton from the Foundation for Early Learning. We have some wonderful items to be auctioned to some lucky participants. There will even be free childcare and activities in a nearby room. So don't miss this wonderful way to support Parenting Matters Foundation and help families in our community. Cost is $25 per person.

Parenting Matters Foundation is celebrating its 20th year. We have been reaching out to all parents to help them do an excellent job of raising their children. We try to present current research on what helps children the most to live healthy happy lives and parents say they like it. Over 99% of parents who reply to our annual evaluation say they would recommend the program to other parents.

We send out "toolkits" filled with information for parents each month. We send out Developmental Cards to outline where children should be developmentally. We have a room at the Community School for parents to come for classes and activities. With the help of local businesses, we have developed a playground for children of all ages at the Sequim Community School. We even send out our monthly newsletters by subscription throughout the United States.

Help us keep this program available to parents by

"Stepping Up To The Plate for Kids."

Parenting Matters Foundation
A United Way of Clallam County Partner Agency.

